A tornado with estimated peak winds of 110 mph touched down just east of Interstate 57 near 173rd Street. The tornado moved east and crossed Interstate 80 southwest of Crawford Avenue. Trees and tree limbs were blown down and roofing material was removed from multiple apartment buildings along 171st Street. The tornado crossed the junction of Interstate 80 and Interstate 294 and began moving to the northeast as it began a counter-clockwise loop. The tornado produced tree damage and cosmetic structure damage as it moved north. The tornado turned northwest after crossing 159th Street and reached its northernmost point between 155th Street and 154th Street. The tornado turned back to the south and accelerated as it crossed 159th Street again. The tornado was likely at peak intensity as it removed a roof from an industrial building on 167th Street and caused exterior roof and wall damage to an apartment complex on 171st Street. The tornado crossed its earlier path near 169 th Street and Anthony Avenue. The tornado crossed Interstate 80 for a third time west of Dixie Highway as it moved southeast across a railroad yard. Four double-stacked intermodal containers were tipped over in the rail yard. Numerous trees were damaged nearby. The tornado continued producing tree damage until it ended near Chicago Heights-Glenwood Road, just east of Thorn Creek.

A tornado with estimated peak winds of 110 mph touched down just south of Glenwood Lansing Road between Route 394 and Stoney Island Avenue. The tornado moved east causing tree damage and minor roof damage to a house and then turned to the northeast as it crossed Route 83. The tornado was likely at peak intensity as it moved through a neighborhood just west of Heritage Middle School where several homes sustained damage to roofs and exterior walls. Two people were injured in this area. An adult woman heard the sirens and went to bring her dog inside when the roof of her house collapsed on her head and she blacked out. When she woke up, she was bleeding. Paramedics treated her but she did not go to the hospital. An older man was inside a separate house when a beam from his roof fell on his arm. He also did not go to the hospital. The tornado continued moving northeast producing tree damage and cosmetic damage until it crossed into Lake County in northwest Indiana just southeast of Willow Lane.
