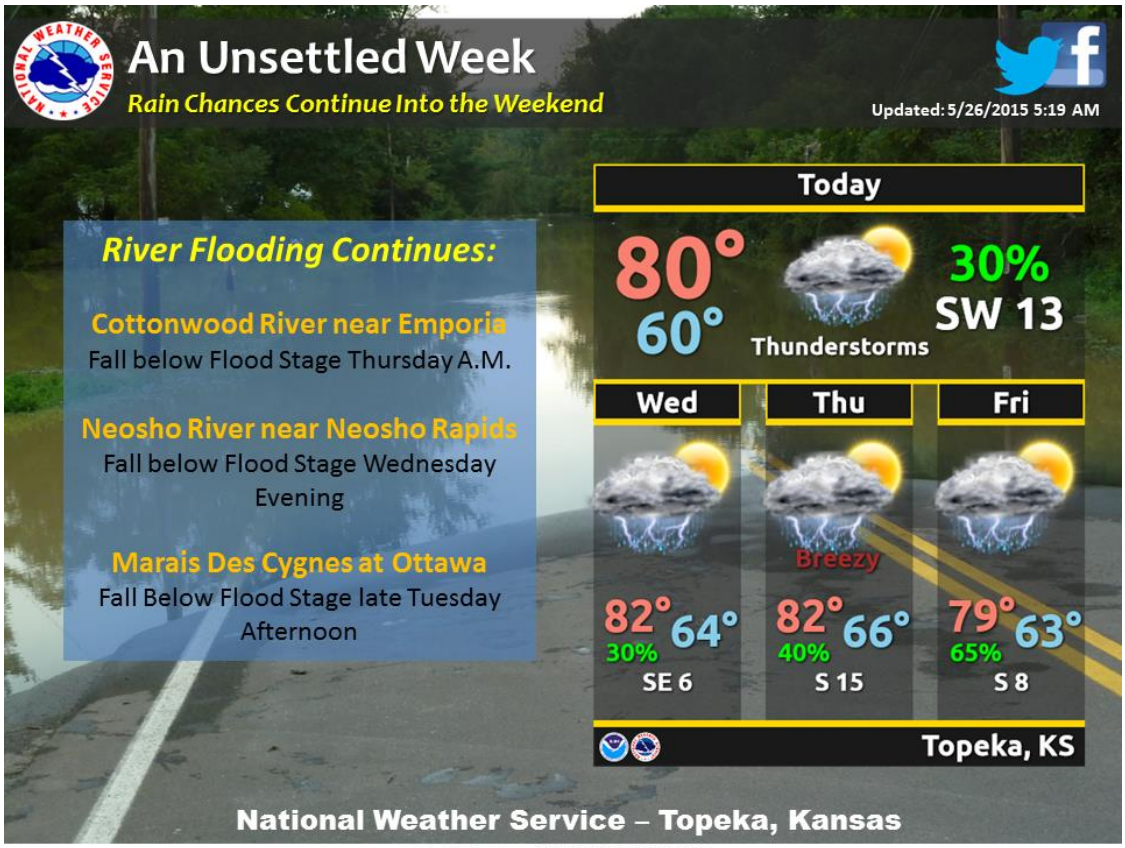
National Weather Service
Topeka, Kansas

Tuesday, May 26, 2015 5:32 AM Experimental Situation Report

A few strong to severe storms possible later today and tonight

Spotter Activation

Not Necessary



Published on: 05/26/2015 at 5:23AM

Highlights

The unsettled weather pattern continues, with rain chances across the area into the weekend. A few of the area rivers remain in flood, and could be impacted by additional rainfall. Highs through the week are expected in the upper 70s to near 80, with possibly a cool down over the weekend.

Click for a description of this product

Click to evaluate this product

Severe Weather Risk

- A few strong to severe storms are possible across the area later this afternoon into this evening. If storms develop, the primary threats would be hail around an inch and damaging winds, with locally heavy rainfall possible.

Resources

- NWS Topeka Website: http://www.weather.gov/top
- Decision Support Page: http://www.weather.gov/top/DSS

NWSTopeka

@NWSTopeka