

Realism

DROF. Chet Webb's Cornell college drama class should win an Oscar for realism.

Prof. Webb took his class outside Tuesday to rehearse a play. The group gathered on the lawn in front of Armstrong hall in Mt. Vernon and began going through an episode in which a fake murder takes place.

Just as the murder was being commited, a person working in a building nearby looked out the window and saw what she thought was a murder.

She called the president's office to report this and two college deans ran out of the office to see what was going on. At this moment, she called back to say she could see two men running from the scene.

Tornado Tales

THERE are as many stories of the May 15 tornado in Oelwein and Charles City as there are people. All of them are exciting . . . and sad.

The Red Cross relates two poignant ones:

Tony Haas of Maynard returned home from attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Louis Ponsar -one of two Maynard persons killed in the twister-and picked up where he had left off advising volunteers where to put food, where to report for duty, etc., at the Red Cross disaster headquarters.

He had been on the job then for five days. And he was back on duty, as he said, because "I promised the Red Cross people I would be back right after the funeral to make plans."

Tony and his wife had escaped the May 15 tornado by running to the basement of their barber-beauty shop in Maynard. Notified that his sister was missing, he joined in the search and helped find her body. Then, he returned to town and started to work, helping distribute food and supplies.

"I'll help as long as I can walk and am needed," he said. And, he is. Just Friday he was named to an Oelwein-Maynard advisory committee to aid the Red Cross in rehabilitation work.

Another story is that of Mrs. Charles Hutchison, chairman of the South Favette county Red Cross chapter in Oelwein. She was 14 miles from Oelwein with one of her three children when the twister hit.

She returned to Oelwein, found her husband safe, but no trace of their other two children. In between looking for her children-which she found later-she organized setting up of a shelter in the basement of Sacred Heart Catholic church.

And it was only a short time after the twister hit that Salvation Army personnel had emergency field kitchens on the scene. Five were set up in Charles City and two in Oelwein. Fifty Salvation Army officers were sent to the scene, in addition to tons of food.

Dozens of cities sent help in the form of personnel and machines.

And, rounding it off, were hundreds of volunteers who went there on their own to help clean up and repair the damage.

Grinnell Grant

state director. AMES - Iowa State forestry students will take summer jobs

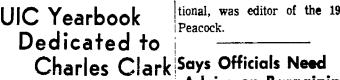

State.

Calif.

ion.

Montauk Dedication Thursday

Montauk, home of William Larrabee, governor of Iowa from 1886 to 1890, will be dedicated as a historic home Thursday at 1 p.m. in Clermont. A program is planned for the dedication. Henry A. Follett will give the welcome and L. H. Meier will give the acknowledgement by the community. Main speaker will be U.S. Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper (R-lowa). Presentation of the home to the public as a historical home will be by William Larrabee III. Mary Larrabee Allen Heabel will cut the ribbon. The Vailey high school band will perform. The house will be operated by Historical Governor Larrabee Home, Inc., of Clermont.

Clark, academic dean. Memorial Gymnasium. The with public employes. unequalled academician — a government units cannot ignore dition of a new wing. friend — a true leader . . . all of the problem of public employe these and many more attributes collective bargaining."

wrapped up in one man."

becoming educated.'

Dr. Clark joined the Upper

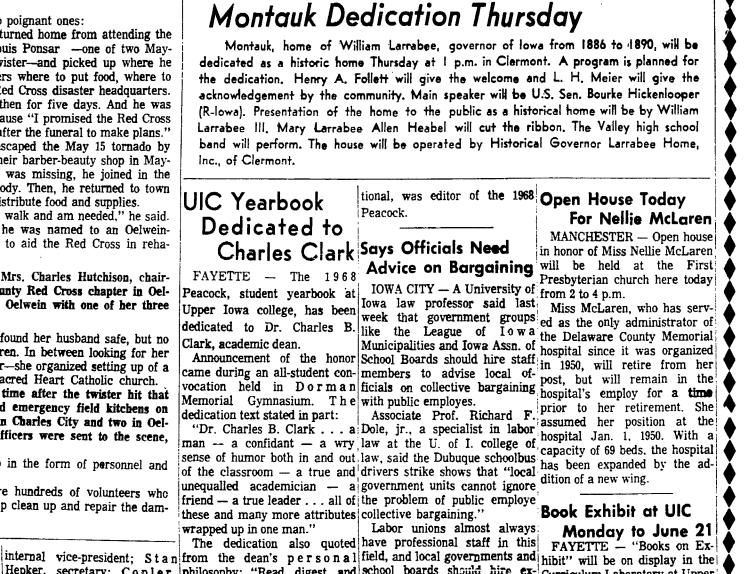

Hepker, secretary; Copler, philosophy: "Read, digest, and school boards should hire ex- Curriculum Laboratory at Upper treasurer; Larry Squires, ex- form your opinion on facts ... perts of their own to keep from Iowa college Monday through ternal director; Wayne Eddins, Learn to think and express a being "overwhelmed" during June 21, it was announced Sun-Students Set internal director; Newell Sutton, concrete opinion . . . this is a negotiations, Professor Dole day. most important phase of said.

New Officers

exhibit of 1.245 The curriculum-related new library books covers instructional texts again this year with industry GRINNELL - Grinnell col- Iowa faculty in 1960 as professor WHAT CHEER - New of from kindergarten through and government in intern or lege has been awarded an unre- of government and political ficers of the Lions club include grade 9. according to Dr.

New disposable dispers.

30 Newborn Pampers 1.34 12 Overnite Pampers 82e

Canvas with cushioned

insoles and P.V.C.N out-soles. Colors. 5 to 10.