The Flag Speaks!

Hello, remember me?

Some people call me Old Glory. Others call me the Stars and Stripes; also I have been referred to as the Star-Spangled Banner. But whatever they call me, I am your flag, or as I proudly state, the flag of the United States of America.

There is something that has been bothering me, so I thought that I might talk it over with you. Because it is about you and me.

I remember some time ago—I think it was Memorial Day—people were lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade. The town's high school band was behind me and naturally I was leading the parade.

When your daddy saw me coming waving in the breeze, he immediately removed his hat but you were giving the right salute. They taught you in school to place your hand over your heart. Remember little sister—not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you.

I was very proud as I came down your street. There were some soldiers home on leave as they were standing at attention giving the military salute. Ladies as well as men all paying me the reverence that I deserve.

Now I may sound as if I am a little conceited. Well, I am. I have a right to be. Because I represent the finest country in the world, the United States of America.

More than one aggressive nation has tried to haul me down but they all felt the fury of this freedom-loving country. You know. You had to go overseas and defend me.

What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh I have a couple more stars added since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since the Memorial Day so long ago. Dad is gone now. The old home town has a new look.

The last time I came down your street I saw that some of the old landmarks were gone, but in their place, shining majestically in the sun, were a number of new buildings and homes. Yes sir, the old town sure has changed.

But now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands' in your pockets and give a small glance and then look away.

When I think of all the places I have been, Anzio, Gaudalcanal, Korea—and now Vietnam. Then I see the children running around and shouting. They don't seem to know who I am. I saw one man take his hat off and then look around. He didn't see anybody else with theirs off so he quickly put his back on.

Is it a sin to be patriotic any more? Have you forgotten what I stand for? Have you forgotten all the battlefields where men fought and died to keep this nation free? When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls sometime. Look at the names of those that never came back. Some of them were friends or relatives of yours. Probably went to the same school with some of them. That's what you are saluting. Not me.

Well it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So when you see me, stand straight, place your hand over your heart and you'll really see me waving back—my salute to you. And I'll know that you remembered.

Junior High Students Gather Items For Children's Home

The students of the La Porte City Junior High have found a useful purpose for good paper, notebooks, pens, and pencils that otherwise would have been thrown away at the end of the school year. These items will be collected in the home rooms, sorted by the Student Council members, and then taken to the Lutheran Children's Home in Waverly.

The La Porte City State Bank will also give a donation of pencils to the children of the home. Anyone else that wishes to help with this gift may bring their contribution to David Zea, Junior High Student Council Advisor, at 517 Bishop Avenue. This package will be taken to Waverly on June 2nd.
