

Welcome to the new National Weather Service Cleveland web page!

This new page is the first step in transitioning our complete suite of web pages toward a more consistent (from local office to local office) look and structure. Our new pages will line up with the changes and updates that the www.weather.gov page took previously. For the time being, these changes will be taking place for offices in the Eastern Region of the NWS.

Old/legacy page: www.erh.noaa.gov/cle

New page: www.weather.gov/cle

please update your bookmarks accordingly

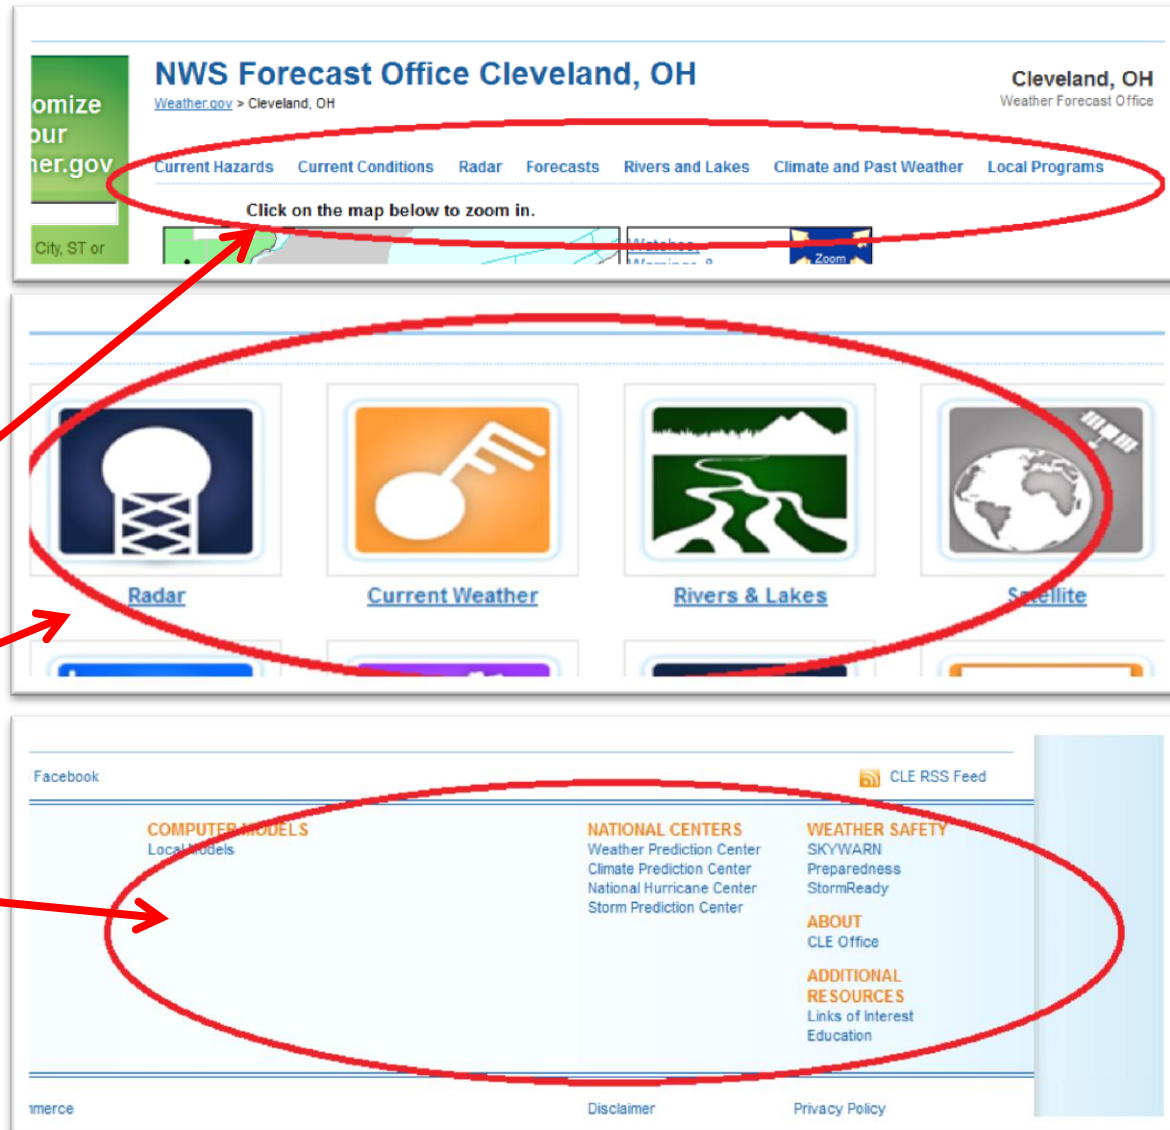

How do I find?

All of the data and forecasts that you could find on the legacy page are still available from the new page. Features are just located under new menus and headings.

Please click around and get a feel for the new page and where your favorite items are located. If you have any questions or comments, please feel free to e-mail us at nwscl@noaa.gov.

Items from the old and familiar blue left-hand menu are now located in one of three navigational features.

For detailed information on how to find the data you are looking for on our new page, consult the table below.
For some items, links point to new pages (as noted below).
