

2017 Iowa Severe Weather Awareness Week Tornado Drill

The Severe Weather Awareness Week Tornado Drill is still a "go" for Wednesday, March 29. It will be cloudy across the state and there will be some rain around, but severe weather is not anticipated and thunder is unlikely in the morning. Please take this time from 10-11am Wednesday morning to make sure you have multiple ways to receive watches and warnings, and practice seeking shelter in your home, school or business.
