

Heavy Rain, Some Flooding Expected

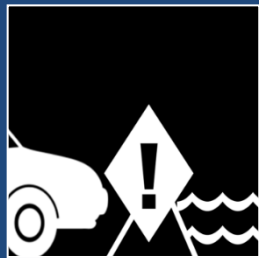

Monday Evening through Early Tuesday: August 15-16, 2016

What to Expect

Could Be Life-Threatening

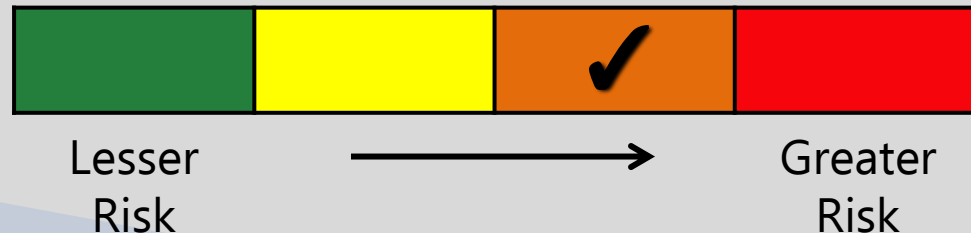

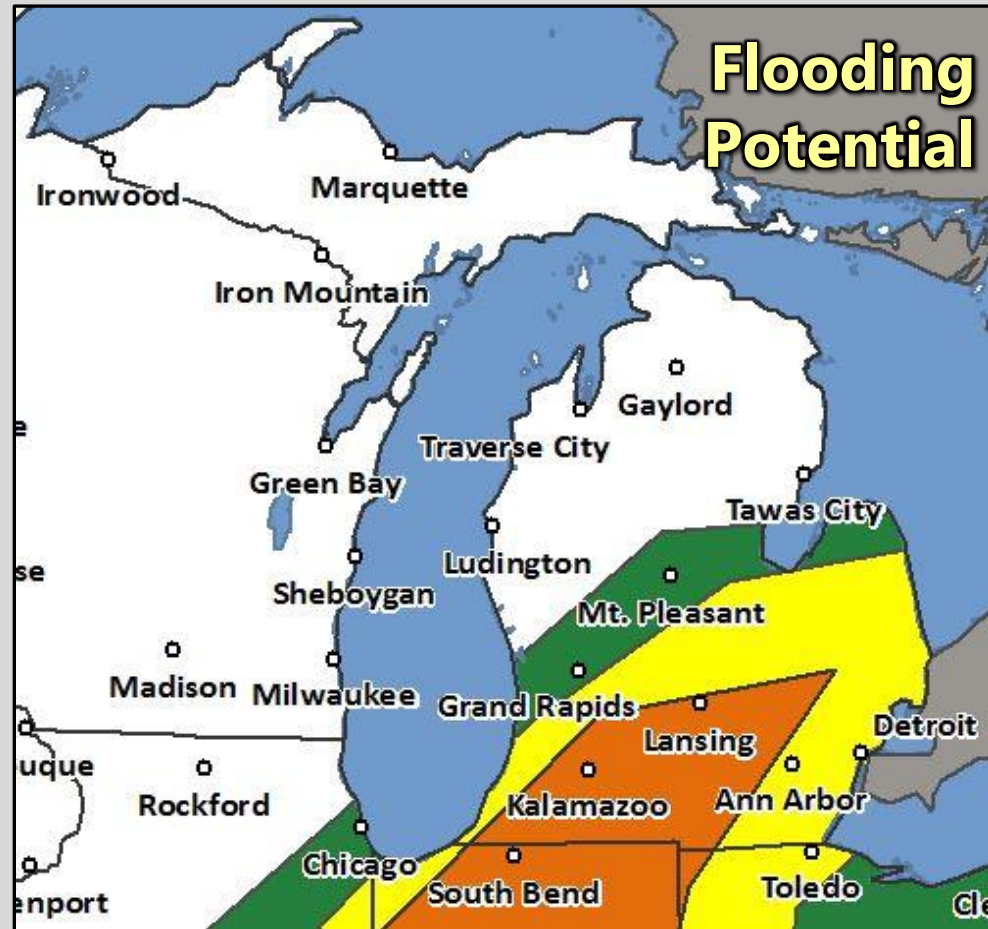

Torrential
Rainfall

Localized
Flooding

When to Expect It

Monday Evening through
Early Tuesday

NOAA
National Weather Service

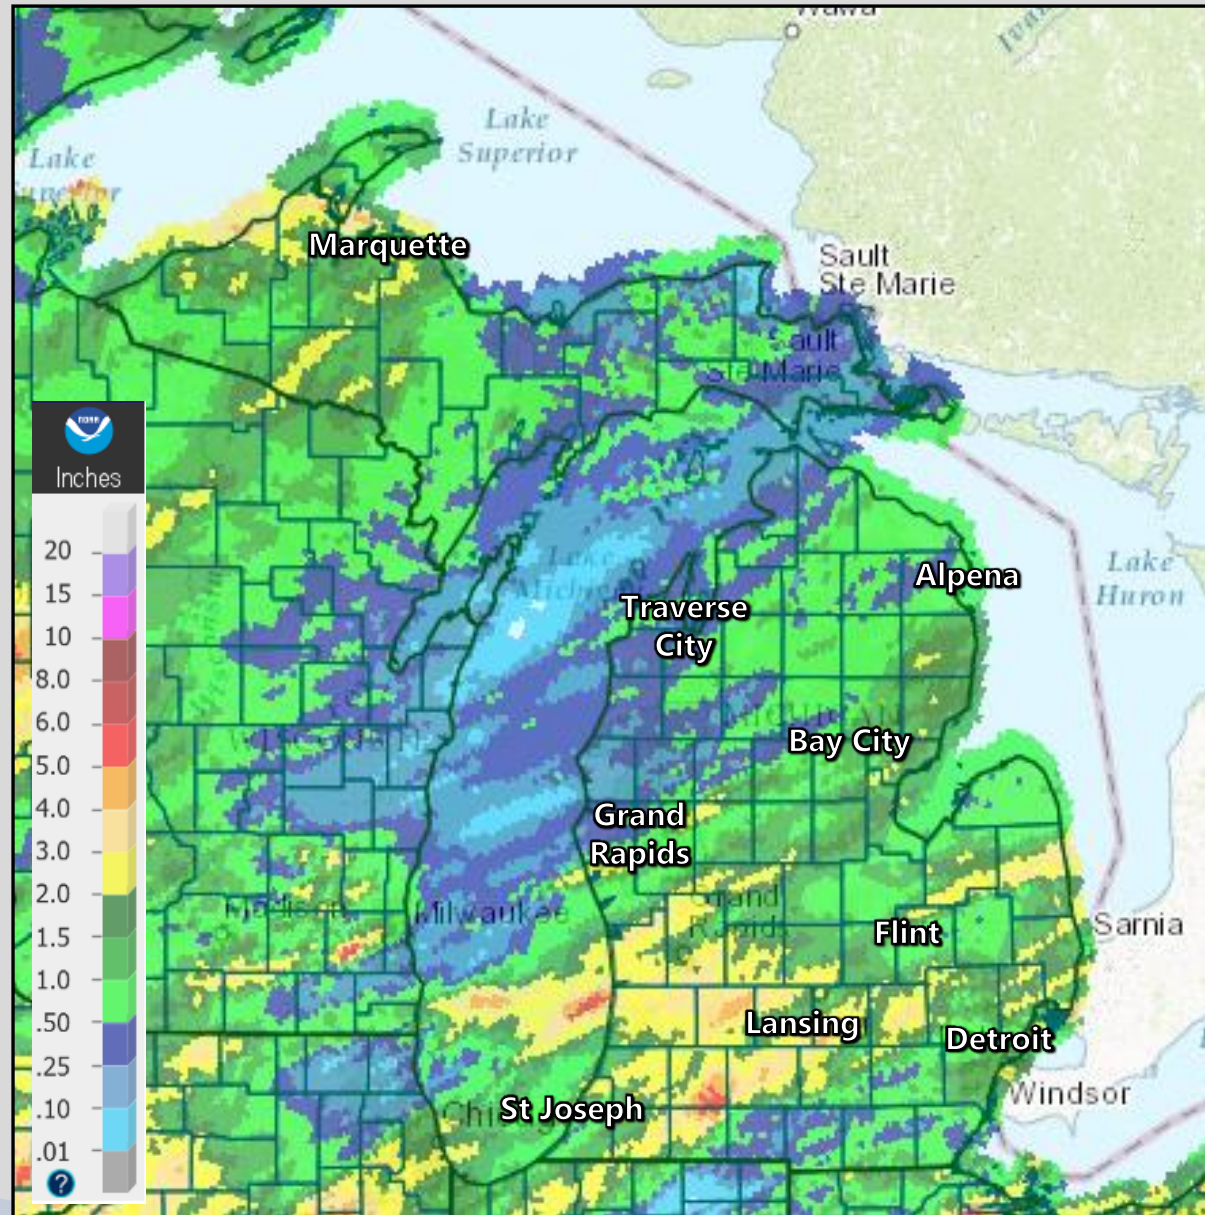

Observed Rainfall: August 8-14, 2016

Where We Are Now

Soggy Ground with
Less Ability to Absorb Water

Some Standing Water from Recent Rains

Some Rivers are Higher
Less Space to Add Water

Heavy Rain Expected

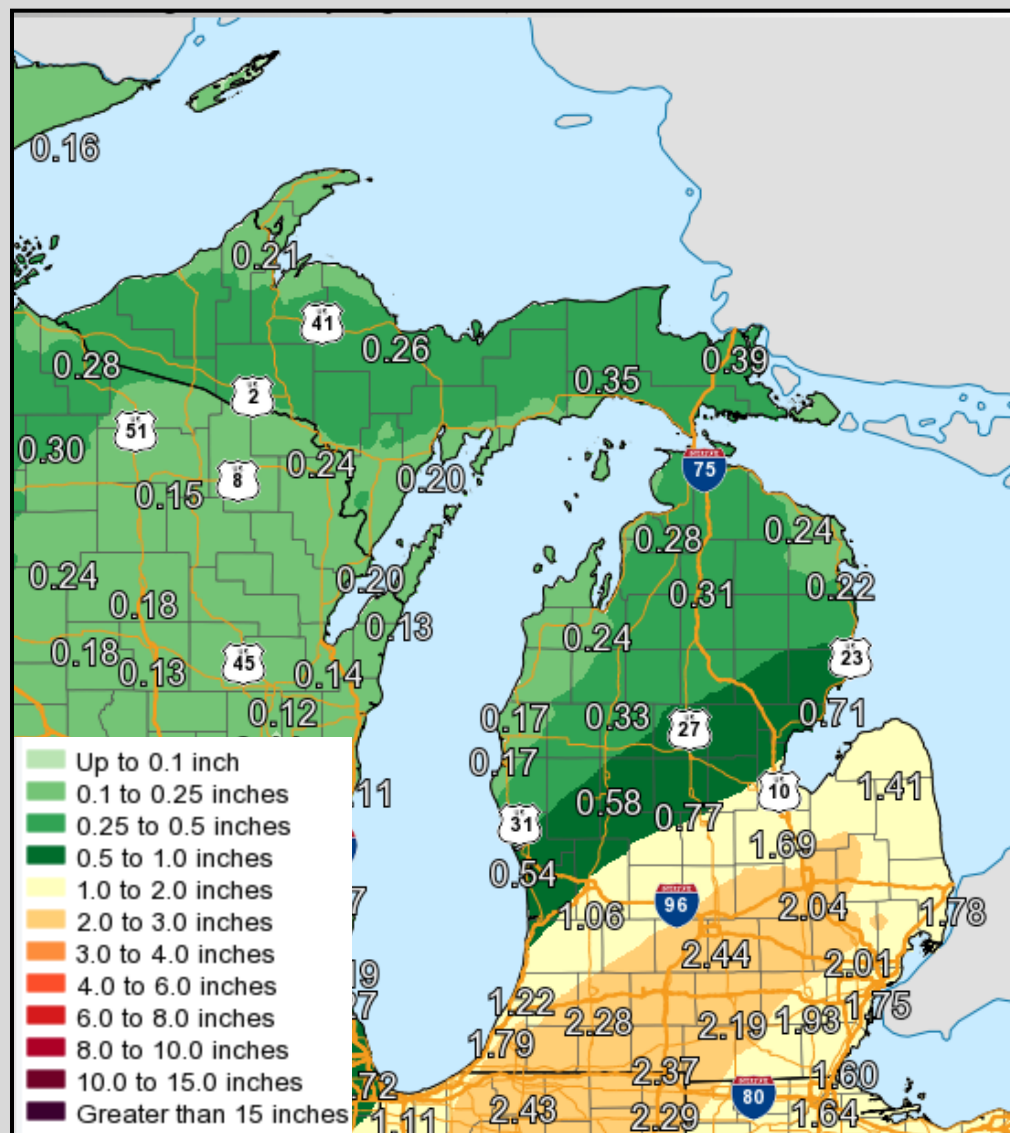

Monday Evening through Early Tuesday: August 15-16, 2016

What to Expect

Torrential
Rainfall

- ✓ Generally 1-4 inches of Rain
- ✓ Some Locations of 5+ inches
- ✓ Very High Rainfall Rates
- ✓ Long Duration Steady Rains

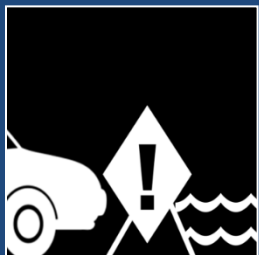

NOAA
National Weather Service

Some Flooding Expected

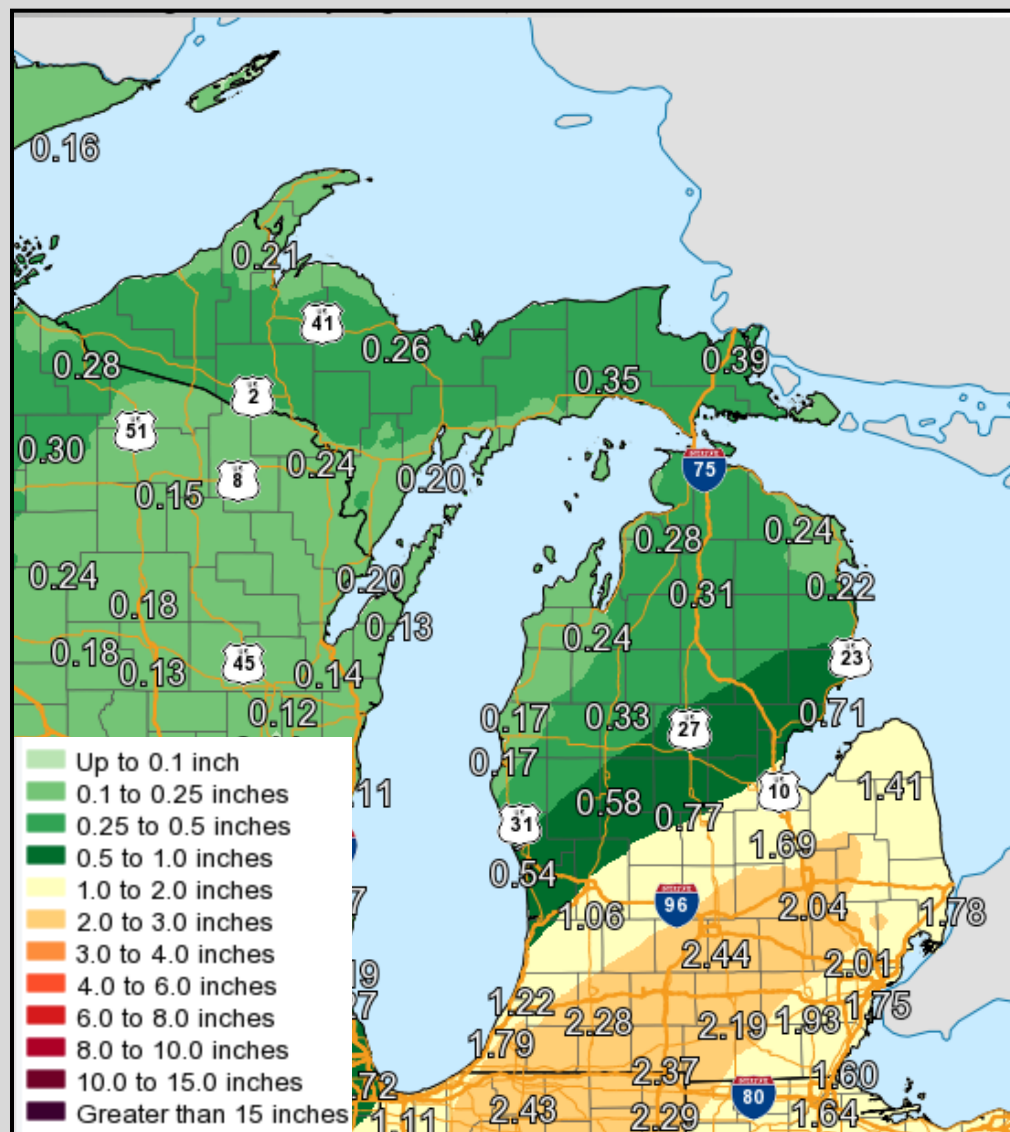

Monday Evening through Early Tuesday: August 15-16, 2016

What to Expect Could Be Life-Threatening

Localized
Flooding

- ✓ Standing Water on Roads Especially at Night
- ✓ Areas That Typically Flood with Heavy Rain
- ✓ Creeks, Streams May Overflow
- ✓ Some Minor Neighborhood Flooding Possible

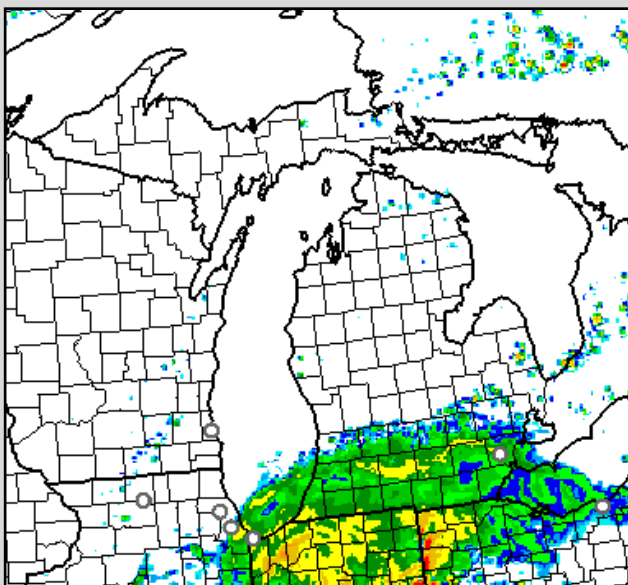

NOAA
National Weather Service

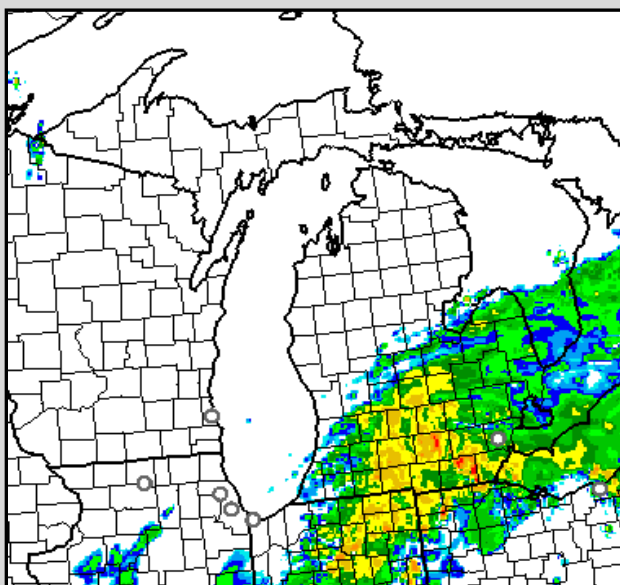

Forecast Weather Radar

August 15-16, 2016

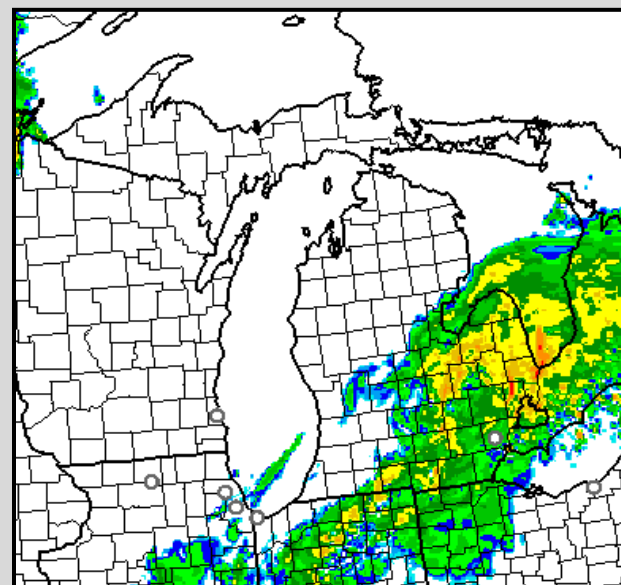

Heavy Rain Expected – Some Local Flooding Expected
Heaviest Rain Could Move Further North or South

Forecast Radar
Monday Evening

Forecast Radar
After Midnight

Forecast Radar
Sunrise Tuesday

NOAA
National Weather Service

weather.gov

Things To Keep In Mind

August 15-16, 2016

- ✓ Worst Weather is Expected in the Overnight Hours
- ✓ Driving: Very Difficult to See Flooded Roads. Hard to Tell How Deep Water Is – Even Harder to Tell at Night
- ✓ Rare Rain Event for August - Avoid Flooded Areas
- ✓ Stay Dry - Any Flood Water Could be Dangerous

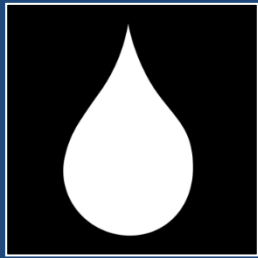

Heavy Rain, Some Flooding Expected

Monday Evening through Early Tuesday: August 15-16, 2016

What to Expect

Could Be Life-Threatening

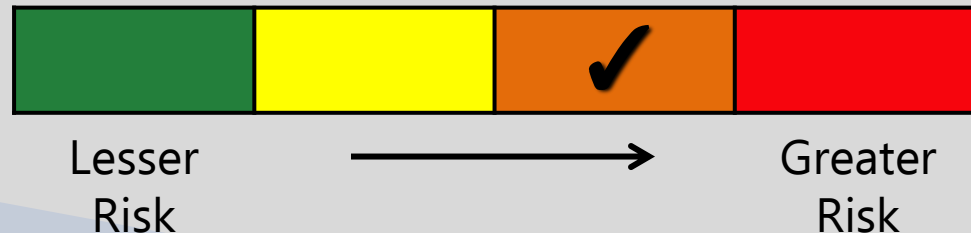

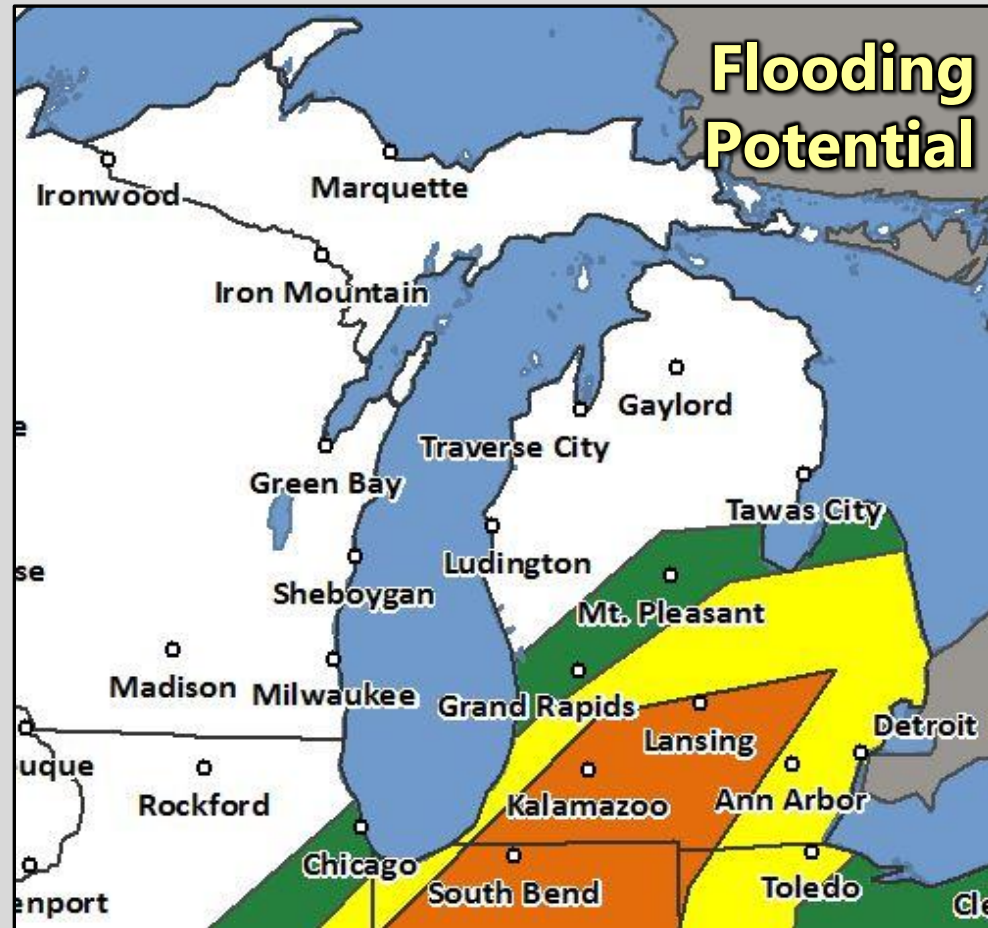

Torrential
Rainfall

Localized
Flooding

When to Expect It

Monday Evening through
Early Tuesday

NOAA
National Weather Service