with Observing Program Leader James
Gibson, NWS
Wilmington, OH

We are fortunate here as we have built a deep partnership with the Miami Conservancy District (MCD), who protect communities in southwest Ohio from flooding, preserve the quality and quantity of water, and promote the enjoyment of our waterways. One example of the NWS/MCD relationship are the precipitation observers who provide data not only to MCD, but to the National Weather Service as well. Recently we honored West Manchester, Ohio observer Philip Coning with a 10 Year Service Award.
