Dense fog early this morning is drifting slowly southward from eastern Duval into northern St. Johns County. Dense fog is also located over portions of Clay and Putnam Counties, especially for locations near the St. Johns River. Visibilities in these areas will be one quarter of a mile or less through the early morning hours.

Motorists should use caution as visibilities could drop suddenly. Slow down, use low beam headlights, and leave extra distance between vehicles.