We are all people who have been in the food & restaurant business for a lot of years. What if there were a place that sought out the best foods available and then prepared those foods right there instead of having a truck deliver pre-prepared foods full of all kinds of who-knows what? What if a great bowl of greens & grains could be topped with dressings that were whole carrots and fresh herbs just minutes before? What if we simmered bone broth and vegetable broth every night in each eatery? What if grass-fed steak, all-natural chicken and fresh tofu were being grilled right there too, where the customer could see it? We think that kind of a place is more than a restaurant... that kind of a place is CoreLife!

As a restaurant, bar, and member of this thriving community, our one goal is to provide creative, quality products made by people who are passionate to do so. City Line Bar and Grill teeters on the border of Guilderland and Albany, NY, yet, embodies the look, feel and expectations of our big city inspiration customized at the local level. We like to shake up the status quo, that's why our industrial-modern design parallels with our fusion of classic "pub fare" and international cuisines. Our drink selection follows suit, with an inventive selection of specialty cocktails, craft beer and wine. All of this, combined, amounts to what we envision an upscale bar and grill to be.
