BERKELEY (AP) — While 6,000 students and faculty celebrated and agitated Friday, an anti-draft rally opened by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. at the University of California, Berkeley, and other campuses, some students held a rally to show their support.

Brown told the students that he would not be held without their consent.

He said the rally was organized to show the University of California that the students were serious about ending the war.

The rally was held on the campus of the University of California, Berkeley, and other campuses, where students held up signs and chanted slogans.

Brown said he would not be held without their consent.

The rally was organized to show the University of California that the students were serious about ending the war.