Upset Boat Found, Fear Three Dead
St. Paul Group May Have Fallen Through Ice

With the backing of an enormous boom, a barge last night near Wabasha, shortly before noon, capsized, killing 21. Pet slingers are still missing.

The 125-foot schooner, known as "The Fighting Man," was carrying coal, and was set to depart for Detroit, Michigan.

The boat was anchored near a small island in the middle of the Mississippi River. The crew was working on the deck when the boom suddenly gave way, causing the vessel to sink rapidly.

Rescue efforts are ongoing, but hopes are fading for the missing crew members. The search continues into the night.

World Full of Sinners

By NORMAN CHANDLER

P E R H A P S it is too bad—and then again maybe it is too bad—that we human beings have to match each other.

If this world were full of saints, the dreams of all our ideals would be silly, for how could we move onward and upward from perfection? But let's not waste time on that "it." You and I know there are plenty of other people doing their unsatisfied wants. There's room enough yet for a lot of progress.

Here in America we do a very good job of watching each other. Let a public official err and his sins are promptly pointed out by his opponents. Let a citizen do a good or a bad job and it teaches his lives, it is duly recorded.

And if a merchant or a manufacturer has a good product, he proudly tells us. If he hasn't a good product, you can depend on it, his competitor will lose no time in getting his own advantages spread around.

In this way you and I get all the facts and the warnings and the cajoleries which equip us to protect ourselves.

Knowing what is going on enables us to protect our liberties, our pocketbooks and our pride.

But wait a minute. Who discovers and spreads the news? Our newspapers do it, of course. It is a big, complex world. Only through the medium of the newspapers can we possibly keep up with what is actually going on. In this very issue of this newspaper, if you'll look, you can see all the world full of sinners and an occasional saint, reported with surprising accuracy.

The accuracy is due to the fact that the papers watch each other, but that's a safeguard, too.

I want to remind you, though, that I'm speaking of American newspapers. If we had a dictator who did all the watching, you can be pretty sure that he'd be watching the other fellow and not himself.

The sins of others and the sinfulness of himself and his satellites would make up the content of the newspapers in this country.

And so, in a sinful world, about the only safeguard for liberty we have is the privilege of watching each other.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

By Roy, Paulie Piancone

Shyam was a rather timid, but curious young boy. He was always on the lookout for adventure and new experiences. One day, he stumbled upon a mysterious old man who claimed to have a horse that could travel through the air. Shyam was amazed and followed the old man to a hidden valley.

The valley was filled with beautiful flowers and rare trees. The old man taught Shyam how to ride the horse, and Shyam was able to fly over the valley with ease.

Shyam realized that this was a magical place, and he decided to keep the secret to himself. From that day on, Shyam would visit the valley whenever he could, always feeling a sense of wonder and excitement.

President Honors Unknown Soldier, British Sink Destroyer

Three views have been taken from the British aircraft used to destroy the Italian destroyer Artigliere in the Mediterranean, at the end of July. The Artigliere had been an ally of the British during the war, and the destroyers were sunk in the following order: the British, in the Artigliere, in the Italian, in the U.S.S. Yorktown. The Yorktown was sunk by the Artigliere, and its sinking was caused by a single shot from the Yorktown. With the Artigliere’s destruction, the Italian fleet was broken up.

Storm Perils
Shipping on Lake Michigan

Washington, D.C., — (U.P.) — The last of the gale warnings for Lake Michigan has been canceled as this little wave of storms which caused many ships to seek shelter in harbors throughout the lake has subsided. However, two broken lifeboats and the drifter "Dory" were visible on the vessel "Lafayette" off the coast of Michigan this morning. The drifter "Dory" was last seen in the lake two years ago.

Razzle-dazzle

People who read the sports pages know what razzle-dazzle means. It stands for football brilliance. The team that has it is flashy with unexpected passes and trick plays. A razzle-dazzle run gives the spectators plenty to yell about.

Razzle-dazzle is one of the spiciest ingredients of good football. It packs them in, and the customers go home satisfied. Now, you might think such a satisfactory football ingredient would be a pretty nice thing to pass around in business in general. To merchants, for instance, it would be a wonderful thing to advertise. But razzle-dazzle is the last thing you want to find in a merchant you're dealing with!

Brilliant trickery is fine and dandy on the football field. But it's a different story in the marketplace. You want to dodge a razzle-dazzle merchant — or manufacturer — as you would the plague. And Luckily, it's not hard to do.

So tone down these merchants and manufacturers who advertise. They're calling all their plays out in the open — for everybody to see. Merchants who advertise are bound to keep faith with the public — if they intend to remain in business.

Labor Board Loses Case in Supreme Court

Washington, D.C.—The Supreme Court ruled today that the Labor Board has no power to order the closing of certain mines in the United States. The case involves a dispute between the Labor Board and the United Mine Workers of America. The Labor Board had ordered the closing of certain mines, claiming that they were operating in violation of federal law. The mine owners, represented by the United Mine Workers of America, challenged the decision of the Labor Board.

The Supreme Court upheld the challenge of the mine owners, ruling that the Labor Board does not have the authority to order the closing of mines. The decision overturns a ruling by the Labor Board, which had ordered the closing of certain mines in the United States.
