

Rain today changes to freezing rain this evening

March 5, 2026
2:30 AM

Freezing rain lingers into Friday morning, especially in the Catskills

Key Messages

- Rain will overspread the region this morning and gradually transitioning to freezing rain this evening as a backdoor cold front pushes in from the east.
  - Main concern: Potential for a quarter inch of ice or more in the Catskills. Most locations in the advisory will see less than 0.1" of ice.
- Temperatures: Mid to upper 30s this afternoon, then gradually cooling into the upper 20s to low 30s tonight.
- Winter Weather Advisory has been issued:
  - In effect from 5 PM Today until 12PM Friday for Sullivan, Delaware, Otsego and Oneida County in NY.
  - Wayne and Pike counties in NEPA could be added later today if confidence increases that temperatures will drop below freezing there.

Forecast Ice and Low Temperatures Tonight

March 5, 2026
2:30 AM

Forecast Ice Accumulation

Forecast Low Temperatures

