

Winter Storm Continues Through This Evening

Message of the Day:

- Snowfall will continue this evening over northwest Wisconsin, eventually tapering off from west to east
- An additional 1 to 3 inches will be possible over northwest Wisconsin this evening

Important Forecast Changes

- No significant changes from the previous Situation Report

Snowfall Continues This Evening

Key Points

Hazards: Light to moderate snowfall through this evening. Additional accumulations of 1 to 3 inches over northwest Wisconsin. Up to one inch of snow accumulations are expected over adjacent areas of northeast Minnesota.

Areas Impacted: Northwest Wisconsin; adjacent areas of northeast Minnesota and into the Minnesota Arrowhead region.

Timing & Duration: Now through midnight tonight.

Impacts: Travel will be difficult and hazardous, particularly during the evening commute, due to slippery road conditions and reduced visibilities due to blowing snow, particularly along Lake Superior.

Certainty & Considerations:

There is some uncertainty regarding the exact amount and location of lake effect snow accumulations.
