Tornado outbreak likely to our west today. We have an elevated severe weather threat, including tornadoes especially in NW Georgia.

The threat will gradually diminish as the storms move east through metro Atlanta, but there's a risk for all of us.

Timing approx 5pm-3am locally.

Brian Monahan, WSB @BMonahanWSB · Mar 25, 2021

This is what's happening just to our west now. We've had severe weather already today with more to come this evening.

Please take this threat seriously. Have a way to get warnings, know your tornado shelter location (basement, lowest level of home).
