Main threats:

- Golfball size Hail
- 60-70 mph winds
- A tornado cannot be ruled out.

Weather Message of the Day:

Main threats: Golf ball sized hail, 60-70 mph. An isolated tornado cannot be ruled out, especially in Southeast Kansas.

Additionally, localized flooding is possible as widespread heavy rain is expected across the region throughout Tuesday and Tuesday night.

Important Forecast Changes:

Change(s) since last report: Addition of enhanced risk in Southeast Kansas
Widespread heavy rain expected through Wednesday night. The bulk of the rain is expected Tuesday and Tuesday night. Heaviest rain is expected with the severe thunderstorm activity. Localized flooding is likely.
Weather Message of the Day

Tuesday will be a higher end severe weather event, especially along and east of the turnpike. Tornado threat is low but it can’t be ruled out. The heavier rain will start Tuesday and Tuesday night. Localized flooding is possible.

IMPACTS:

• Hail and high winds may damage roofs, windows and siding
• Damage is likely to mobile homes, roofs and outbuildings
• Lightning may electrocute people or animals
• Strong winds may damage homes and businesses
• Damaging winds may uproot or damage trees
• Damaging winds may blow down utility poles
• Damaging winds may cause widespread power outages

For more information about this event, monitor our Severe Weather Decision Support page here: http://www.weather.gov/ict/embrief

@NWSwichita  NWSWichita

Building a Weather-Ready Nation