

National Weather Service Wilmington, NC

Outlook Period: Fri, Oct 19 – Sun, Oct 21
Time Issued: 9:30 AM Fri Oct 19, 2018

Prepared by: Rachel Zouzias

Overview: Warmer and moister air will move north across the area through tonight bringing increasing chance of some clouds and showers ahead of cold front. The cold front will move through late Saturday bringing some of the coldest weather of the season for early next week as Canadian high pressure settles down over the Carolinas.

Impacts: Not counting on much rainfall on Saturday with the cold front. May see some patchy frost early Monday morning in traditionally cooler spots inland.

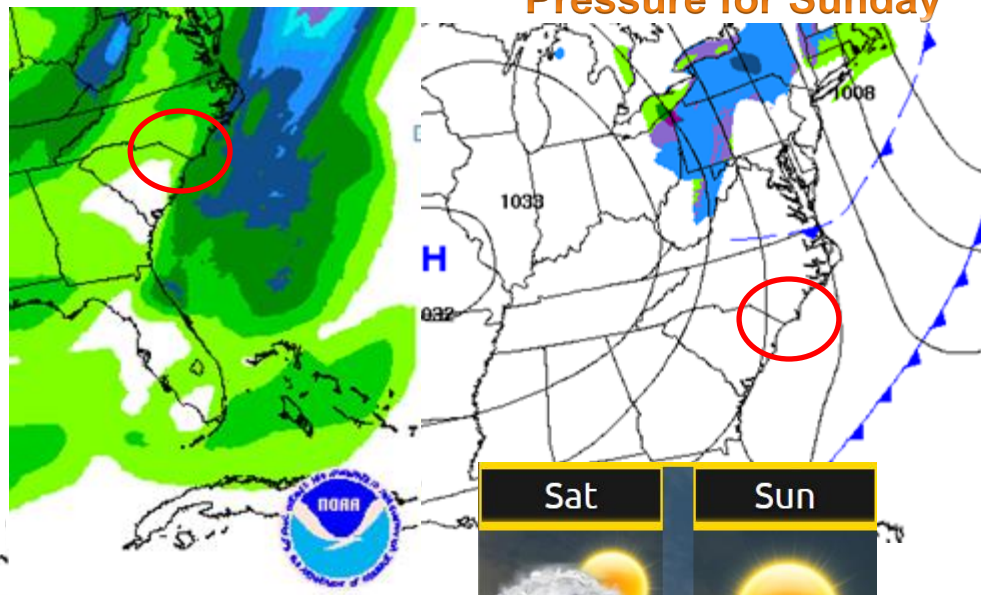

Precipitation through tonight

24-HR DAY 1 OPF
VALID 12Z FRI OCT 19 2018
THRU 12Z SAT OCT 20 2018
ISSUED: 0828Z FRI OCT 19 2018
FORECASTER: ORAVEC
NOAA/NWS/NCEP/WPC

Cold and Dry High Pressure for Sunday

Precipitation through Saturday

Today
72°		40%
60°		S 3 - 7
Mostly Sunny

Sat	Sun
76°	62°
50°	39°
50%	15%
SW 3 - 7 G0	W 9 - 13 G20

For the latest updates, please visit our website and social media outlets: