Overview: Generally dry weather with above normal temperatures are expected through Friday, with some showers possible mid to late week. High astronomical tides and onshore winds could produce minor coastal flooding through the week.

Primary Threats: Minor coastal flooding is likely during the morning high tides.

Impacts: Shallow saltwater inundation could cause some roads to flood.

Other Info: No significant rainfall is expected through Friday. Get the latest tide forecasts at https://water.weather.gov/ahps2/index.php?wfo=ilm