Several vehicles had stalled in high water along Wadley Avenue.

A large outdoor music festival, Rock the Desert, was in progress when these storms inundated the Midland area. The festival, which had 11,000 attendees this year, takes place each year at a location across Farm to Market Road 1788. The parking lots for this event are basically empty fields and as attendees were leaving the event due to the heavy rain, many became stuck in the muddy fields.
