Subject: Soliciting Comments until March 31, 2011, on the Experimental QPF Forecasts For Days 4 And 5

The Hydrometeorological Prediction Center (HPC) in the NWS National Centers for Environmental Prediction is accepting comments until March 31, 2011, on experimental 6-hourly quantitative precipitation forecasts (QPF) for days 4 and 5. The HPC derives this product using QPF values from the Global Ensemble Forecast System (GEFS) to disaggregate the 48 hour forecasts issued for days 4 and 5 by HPC forecasters into 6 hour increments.

The experimental 6-hour interval QPF product for days 4 and 5 has been entered into the national catalog of new and enhanced products. You may view it at the following link:
