Subject: Soliciting Comments until April 25, 2014 on New Map Interface for NWS Point Forecast Pages

On Friday, March 14, 2014, the NWS Internet Dissemination System (NIDS) changed the interactive map display and the location search bar from Google Maps to the ESRI Maps service on: www.weather.gov.

This migration resulted in some functionality changes involving topography and other map features as compared to the previous Google Maps.

Accordingly, NWS is accepting comments through April 25, 2014, on this changed service. We will analyze all comments and enhance the map capability as appropriate and feasible within the feature set of the ESRI Maps service. Please submit comments to the following link:
