Localized Flooding and Strong Storms Possible Each Afternoon This Week

Forecast Summary

- Scattered storms are expected to continue the rest of this week with some severe storms possible each afternoon
  - Damaging winds, heavy rain leading to flooding, and hail will be the threats each day
- Some locations could receive 3-5”+ of rain especially along and north of I-40
- Slightly cooler conditions Friday through the weekend
- A return of hot conditions is expected in the extended forecast