<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Wintry Mix/Snow</td>
<td>A brief period of moderate to heavy snow is possible through 2 AM. Snow accumulations of around an inch are expected, locally up to two inches in Forsyth County. After 2 or 3 AM, a rise in temperatures will result in snow mixing with or changing over to rain, melting any snow accumulation. Another period of snow is possible later this morning with very little or no additional accumulation.</td>
<td>The Triad region</td>
<td>Through the early overnight and again Sunday morning</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hazardous Travel</td>
<td>While snow accumulations will be highest on elevated surfaces, a light accumulation is possible on area roadways, which could result in slick conditions.</td>
