Severe Storms Possible Thursday Afternoon & Evening

Key Points:

- Severe thunderstorms will be possible Thursday afternoon into early Thursday evening as a cold front moves across the area.
- The main hazards with thunderstorms will be damaging wind gusts and locally heavy rainfall.

Important Forecast Changes

Minor changes made to the most likely timing and location for severe thunderstorms Thursday.
Thursday: Severe Weather Details

Hazards: Damaging wind gusts and heavy rainfall that could lead to localized flash flooding.

Areas Impacted: East-central and extreme northeast Kansas.

Timing & Duration: Thursday afternoon and early evening. Storms are also possible Thursday morning across the forecast area, but those are not expected to be severe.

Certainty & Considerations: Confidence is high in storms developing along the front Thursday afternoon in east-central and far northeast Kansas, but confidence is low to medium that storms will become severe before exiting the area.